The sum of $15,270 was deposited in a Fulton bank recently by the administrators of the estate of Edward G. Perry. The money had been kept in a tin box at the home of Mr. Perry and represented the accumulations of many years. The sum of $15,400 was in greenbacks, and $870 was in gold. The old man would move it about from one hiding place to another, but the box was never locked.
